What is the next step?

Rainforest Fund is eager to collaborate on sustainable initiatives that support the human rights and dignity of Indigenous Peoples throughout the world by partnering with conscious companies looking to donate. Our partners in the field often require tools including GPS, cameras, reflective clothing, paper, office supplies, trucks, fuel, printers, food for meetings and workshops, flights, and more. These tools are often the very nature of what Indigenous Peoples' projects rely on. For example, without fuel to travel from village to village, it would be difficult to lead successful workshops and meetings in communities, making decisions and progress impossible.

With your help, we can ensure our partners have the necessities to ensure their projects run smoothly.
